* International debut

“We have used our selection for the 2006 Invesco Perpetual Series to lay realistic building blocks for the Rugby World Cup next Autumn. This is the first of four squad selections before RWC 2007 and we have tried to get a balance based on form, potential ability and the capacity of a player to fit into our way of thinking as a management team.”

“The return of some key players who figured on the Lions tour a year ago, and in Wales’ Grand Slam winning season in 2005, has made selection difficult. But that is exactly what any coach would want.

“We are at the beginning of a process and what we hope we have are the beginnings of a squad which will grow in time into Wales’ World Cup team.

“We want to WIN all four matches and will be selecting the sides to do so in each game. Expectation is high due to the return of some players with big reputations and the rise of some new faces after our summer tour of Argentina.

“Early performances for the regions have been good and we intend to meet that expectation head on.

“We are looking for strong performances, although we also need to be realistic. We have huge respect for the high quality of opposition we are facing, but we intend to win.

“Everyone knows how tough it is to beat Australia and New Zealand, but we won’t be underestimating the Pacific Islands or Canadian teams. The Islanders will make a bit of history when they meet us in their first fixture in the northern hemisphere and they are a side packed with power and potential.

“As for Canada, they will be looking to make a statement ahead of our World Cup clash in Nantes. We can’t afford for them to leave feeling happy and confident.

“On a personal level, it will be the first time I have prepared a Wales team as head coach to play in front of home fans and I am very much looking forward to it.”
